Opposer Nautica Apparel Inc. (Opposer and its predecessors, where applicable, are hereinafter collectively referred to as “Nautica” or “Opposer”), respectfully submits this brief in opposition to the Applicant’s Motion for Summary Judgment.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

As demonstrated below, Opposer’s NAUTICA mark is well-known and famous, the marks in issue are similar, the goods in issue are legally identical and related, and the following legal presumptions apply for purposes of this proceeding: the parties’ respective goods under their respective marks move through the same channels of trade and reach the same customers.

Summary judgment is never granted where the evidence shows that there are genuine issues of material fact. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). As the party moving for summary judgment, Applicant has the burden of demonstrating the lack of any genuine issues of fact, and all ambiguities and inferences must be resolved against him. Adickes v. S.H. Kress & Co., 398 U.S. 144, 157 (1970). The Applicant has not and cannot meet its burden.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND Opposer, its History, Goods, and Reputation

Opposer, through its predecessors, began use of the NAUTICA brand and trademark in 1983 and use has been continuous to the present.¹ As a result of Nautica’s remarkable and enviable success, it has become one of the largest and best-known apparel companies in the United States and the world. Over the past seven (7) years, its U.S. wholesale sales have averaged over $900 million/year.² Retail sales figures are approximately double the aforementioned wholesale figures (i.e., approximately $1.8 billion/year)³. In fact, according to NPD Marketing Research, from 2004-2007 Nautica has the second largest market share in the United States in the menswear category.⁴

The NAUTICA brand has developed and evolved into a “lifestyle” brand that extends across a broad range of consumer products used by people in their day-to-day lives, including without limitation, clothing, fragrances and cosmetics, eyewear, watches, jewelry, luggage, handbags, furniture, bedding, fabrics and linens, housewares, and tableware, etc.⁵

Nautica’s products are offered for sale and sold throughout the entire United States in department stores, specialty stores, Nautica’s own stores which operate under the NAUTICA mark (of which there are 115) and the NAUTICAKIDS mark (of which there are 6) and over the internet via its own websites, its licensees’ websites, amazon.com and authorized customer and portal websites. Examples of stores where Nautica products are offered for sale and sold are Macy’s, Dillard’s, Bloomingdale’s, Bon Ton/Carson, Belk, Boscov’s, Gottschalk’s, Lord & Taylor, Linens ‘n Things, Bed, Bath & Beyond and Fortunoff. In total, Nautica products are promoted and offered for sale in over 2,449 stores (not owned by Nautica) in the United States. In many department stores, Nautica’s products are showcased within a designated area, or a “store within a store”. This “store within a store” theme includes Nautica’s signage, images and trademarks.⁶

Nautica owns numerous U.S. trademark registrations in numerous classes, that contain the word mark NAUTICA or the prefix NAUT (hereinafter sometimes referred to collectively as the “NAUTICA Marks”), including eight (8) incontestable registrations of record in Class 25 and three (3) uncontested registrations in Class 3, the same classes of goods which have been applied for by Applicant.⁷ Nautica owns over 1,800 trademark applications and registrations throughout the world.⁸

Nautica's U.S. advertising and promotional expenditures over the past eight years have averaged in excess of $37 million per year⁹.

Nautica's products, are advertised and promoted through print media including well known national and international publications such as Elle, ESPN, Esquire, Fortune, GQ, Harper's Bazaar, New York Time Magazine, Oprah, Sports Illustrated, etc., which advertising generates over a billion consumer impressions a year.¹⁰ Nautica products are also advertised and promoted through point of sale materials, store fliers, company mailers and catalogs, sales promotions, billboards, distribution of promotional goods such as gift with purchase promotions, television and the Internet.¹¹

Nautica also promotes itself and its products through sponsorship of various sporting events, music events, charitable events, and the like, including, inter alia, the "Nautica Malibu Triathlon," the "Subaru Gorge Games," the "Legg Mason Tennis Classic," the "Starlight Foundation," the "AVP" volley ball tour, the "Newport Jazz Festival," the "US Sailing Team," numerous regattas, the "Nautica/GQ kayak for a Cause," the "NYC Triathlon," and many others. The aforementioned promotional activities also generate multiple billions of consumer impressions.¹²

ARGUMENT (Likelihood of Confusion)

Applicant's arguments in its rather succinct motion for summary judgment can be summarized as follows:

- (1) During the prosecution of its application, Applicant overcame an Examiner's citation of Reg. No. 2,706,636 for the mark NAUTI GEAR (which third party registration has since been cancelled by Nautica - Canc. No. 92/043887 cancelled 8/5/07) and Nautica's Marks were not cited;
- (2) That Nautica has not established priority because Nautica's registrations referred to in the Notice of Opposition were not appended to the Notice of Opposition (they are appended as Ex. "A" to the accompanying declaration of Bizzari submitted herewith, making Applicant's argument moot);
- (3) That there are certain differences in the parties' respective marks;
- (4) That the parties respective goods are dissimilar (despite the fact that all of the goods recited in the application in issue are identical to goods recited in various of Nautica's trademark registrations of record); and
- (5) That, notwithstanding the fact that the NAUTICA mark is famous (which is assumed by the Applicant)¹³, Nautica cannot prevail on its dilution claim because of alleged differences in the parties' respective marks.¹⁴

As demonstrated below, Applicant has not and cannot meet its burden on its summary judgment motion. The facts, however, support summary judgment in Nautica's favor.

¹³ See, p. 12 to Applicant's brief ("Assuming for purposes of this Motion that Opposer could demonstrate the fame of its marks . . .").

¹⁴ Applicant also takes up much of its motion/brief discussing pending applications of Nautica and attempts to relate them to the issue of priority. They are cited by Nautica in the Notice of Opposition to show the breadth of goods and services offered by Nautica under its NAUTICA life-style brand, and the associated areas of actual and natural expansion for the mark.

A. Opposer Has Priority

Priority is not an issue in this proceeding. Applicant filed its “intent to use” application to register “GET NAUTI” on goods in Class 3 and Class 25 on April 15, 2005. There is no evidence of record that applicant has ever used his mark. Opposer has proven ownership of a number of incontestable registrations for NAUTICA in Classes 3 and 25, registered long-prior to the filing of the ITU application in issue, thus making priority of use of Nautica’s Marks a moot point. See Oxford Pendaflex Corp. v. Anixter Bros. Inc., 201 USPQ 851, 853 (TTAB 1978); and Black & Decker Mfg. Co., v. Bright Star Industries, 220 USPQ 891 (TTAB 1983). Further, Opposer has been selling goods bearing the famous NAUTICA Marks for 25 years. Opposer has priority as a matter of law.

B. Analysis Of The DuPont Factors

Demonstrates That Confusion Is Likely To Result From The Simultaneous Use By The Parties Of Their Respective Marks

In In re E.I. duPont de Nemours & Co., 177 USPQ 563, 567 (CCPA 1973), the CCPA established a decisional process for determining likelihood of confusion in trademark cases. Thirteen (13) factors were propounded, each of which must to be considered when there is sufficient evidence of record and where the same are relevant. Cunningham v. Laser Golf Corp., 222 F.3d 943, 946 (Fed. Cir. 2000). Any one or more of the factors may control a particular case. See In re Dixie Restaurants Inc., 41 USPQ2d 1531, 1533 (CAFC 1997). The fame factor “plays as dominant role in cases featuring a famous or strong mark.” See, Kenner Parker Toys Inc. v. Rose Arts Industries, Inc., 963 F.2d 350, 22 USPQ2d 1453, 1456 (Fed. Cir. 1992).

In this case the primary, controlling factors of record are (1) Opposer’s NAUTICA Mark and name are well-known and famous; (2) the dominant portion of the parties’ respective marks are very similar in sound, appearance, meaning, and commercial impression; (3) many of the parties' respective goods recited in the application in issue and Opposer's registrations are identical; (4) for purposes of this proceeding, the parties' respective goods are considered sold to and through many of the same channels of trade, and to the same potential customers for such goods.

These primary factors, as well as the remaining factors of record overwhelmingly favor Opposer to such a degree that Applicant's motion must be dismissed. The Applicant has intentionally and studiously avoided all of the duPont factors except the first. Reason? As shown below, the relevant factors ignored by Applicant all entirely favor Nautica.

1st duPont Factor. The Similarity or Dissimilarity Of The Marks In Their Entireties as To Appearance, Sound, Connotation and Commercial Impression.

The Applicant's mark is: GET NAUTI.

While the mark is capable of more than one meaning, the primary meaning of the word "GET" is "obtain." See, Webster's II New Riverside University Dictionary:

get v. 1. To come into possession of: OBTAIN. 2. To go after and obtain <get a book from the library> 3. To take esp. by force: SEIZE. . . .

And what is the consumer asked to obtain? NAUTI (NAUTICA). It could be obtained, for example, by purchase.

Applicant argues that the term "NAUTI" is intended to be a fanciful spelling of the word "naughty". The issue, however, is not what Applicant would like the Board to believe it intended, but rather how potential consumers would view the mark (an issue that Applicant presents no evidence concerning).

The term "naut" is an abbreviation for the term "nautical." See, e.g., Merriam-Webster Online dictionary, MSN Encarta dictionary, and Dictionary.com Unabridged (v 1.1). The term “nauti” is a prefix for numerous words all of which pertain to things nautical. The primary meaning of the root “naut” and/or “nauti” is of things nautical. The Applicant’s assertion regarding what it intended its mark to mean is further belied but the obvious fact that Applicant adopted the term “NAUTI” not the term “NAUGHTY.” It was not an accident. The term “NAUTI” draws a first and primary connection with the term “nautical,” making the appearance of Applicant’s mark and Opposer’s marks more similar in sight, sound, meaning and commercial impression. The spelling of its mark as “NAUTI” dispels applicant’s argument concerning the sole meaning it urges in its moving papers.

Further, various of the goods recited in the application in issue concern the beach, water, boating and the like (e.g., sunscreen cream and sunblock preparations, beach footwear, swimwear, bathing trunks, bathing caps, beach wraps, bikinis, and bathing suits).

The dominant portion of Applicant’s mark is the term “NAUTI,” preceded by the common and imperative form of the verb “to get.” As stated in Uncle Ben’s Inc. v. Stubenberg International Inc., 47 USPQ2d 1310, 1312 (TTAB 1998):

. . . while we must consider the marks in their entireties and may not improperly dissect them, we may give more weight in the likelihood-of-confusion analysis to the "dominant" elements. [Citing cases].

Comparing the dominant portion of the parties’ respective marks, one is encountered with the prefix/mark “NAUTI” and the mark “NAUTICA” which look similar, are pronounced in a similar fashion and which share similar meanings and commercial impressions.

In comparing the marks as a whole, the Board must be mindful that where, as here, the goods are in-part identical (See, 2nd duPont factor section below at p. 9), the degree of similarity necessary to find likelihood of confusion need not be as great as where there is a recognizable disparity between the goods. Century 21 Real Estate Corp. v. Century Life of America, 970 F.2d 874, 23 USPQ2d 1698, 1700 (Fed. Cir. 1992); Real Estate One, Inc. v. Real Estate 100 Enterprises Corporation, 212 USPQ 957, 959 (TTAB 1981); ECI Division of E-Systems, Inc. v. Environmental Communications Incorporated, 207 USPQ 443, 449 (TTAB 1980).

In addition, the test is not whether the marks can be distinguished when subjected to a side-by-side comparison, but rather whether the marks are sufficiently similar in terms of their overall commercial impression so that confusion as to the source of the goods offered under the respective marks is likely to result. San Fernando Electric Mfg. Co. v. JFD Electronics Components Corp., 565 F.2d 683, 196 USPQ 1, 3 (CCPA 1977); Spoons Restaurants Inc. v. Morrison Inc., 23 USPQ2d 1735, 1741 (TTAB 1991), aff'd unpublished, No. 92-1086 (Fed. Cir. June 5, 1992). The proper focus is on the recollection of the average consumer, who retains a general rather than specific impression of the marks. Winnebago Industries, Inc. v. Oliver & Winston, Inc., 207 USPQ 335, 344 (TTAB 1980); Sealed Air Corp. v. Scott Paper Co., 190 USPQ 106, 108 (TTAB 1975).

2nd duPont Factor. The Similarity Or Dissimilarity and Nature Of The Parties' Respective Goods

9th duPont Factor. The Variety Of Goods On Which A Mark Is Or Is Not Used

The Board must assess the 2nd DuPont factor [i.e., the similarity of the goods] by comparing Applicant's goods as recited in his application, with Opposer's goods as recited in Opposer's registrations of record and with Opposer's goods and services as actually used by Opposer. See, Warnaco, Inc. v. Adventure Knits, Inc., 210 USPQ 307, 314-315 (TTAB1981).

The goods recited in the application in issue are:

IC 003. US 001 004 006 050 051 052. G & S: Perfumes, colognes, and essential oils for personal use; deodorants and antiperspirants for personal use; cleaning preparations for personal hygiene purposes, namely, skin cleansers, facial cleansers, shower gels, shower wash, body scrubs, facial scrubs, and facial masks; hair care preparations, namely, hair shampoo, hair conditioner, styling gel, hair spray, hair cream, hair mousse; sunscreen cream and sun block preparations; shaving preparations, namely, non-medicated shaving balm, shaving cream, shaving foam, shaving gel, shaving lotion, shaving soap, after-shave gel, and after-shave lotion; cosmetics, namely, foundation and powder make-up, concealers, blush, eye shadow, eyeliners, eyebrow pencils, mascara, lip gloss, lip liner, and lipstick; nail care preparations, namely, nail enamel, nail cream, and nail polish; toiletries, namely bar and liquid skin soaps, body lotions, body cream, body powder, hand cream, eye cream, and skin moisturizers.

While Opposer's NAUTICA Mark is used with a large variety of goods and services, its primary products are its wide variety of clothing and apparel in Class 25, and fragrances and cosmetics in Class 3. Many of the products listed in Nautica's registrations of record are identical to those recited in the above application in issue, e.g.:

Reg. No. 1557528 - NAUTICA for perfumes and essential oils for personal use; Reg. No. 1882757 - NAUTICA for shaving cream and toilet soap; Reg. No. 1464663 – NAUTICA for, inter alia, hosiery, shoes, undershirts, undershorts, shirts, blouses, jackets, pants, coats, suits, bathing suits, bathrobes, slippers and shorts; Reg. No. 2987139 - NAUTICA BLUE for men's, women' and children's wearing apparel, namely, undershirts, t-shirts, shirts, blouses, pants, shorts, bathing suits and swimwear; Reg. No. 3109967 - NAUTICA BEACH for, inter alia, men's, women's and children's bathing suits, swim trunks, swim suits, shorts, pants, warm-up suits, sweat shirts and pants and bathing caps; Reg. No. 3076597 - NAUTICA COMPETITION for, inter alia, cosmetics and toiletries for men and women, namely, colognes, skin cleansers, shaving cream, after-shave lotion, toilet soap, personal deodorants, shampoo and conditioner; Reg. No. 3076796 - NAUTICA COMPETITION for, inter alia, Men's, women's and children's wearing apparel, namely, shoes, sneakers, boots, undershirts, shirts, pants, jackets, coats, bathing suits, bathrobes, pajamas, slippers, shorts, ties, socks, hats, gloves; Reg. No. 3170055 - NAUTICA BLUE for perfumery and after shave lotions; Reg. No. 3170094 - NAUTICA VOYAGE for perfumery and after shave lotions; Reg. No. 3272760 - NAUTICA GOLF for, inter alia, shirts, jackets, pants, hats, shorts and polo shirts.

The Applicant makes an absurd and tortured argument that because Nautica also uses its mark on goods other than goods in Class 25 and Class 3, that confusion is significantly diminished. Not surprisingly, the Applicant does not cite a single case in support of its argument.

The fact that the NAUTICA mark has become a famous and well-recognized life-style brand used on a broad range of goods makes the mark “strong” whereby likelihood of confusion is necessarily significantly increased. The fact that many of the parties’ respective goods are “identical” makes it that much more likely that consumers will be confused. Recot Inc. v. Becton, 214 F.3d 1322, 54 USPQ2d 1894, 1897 (Fed. Cir. 2000).

The parties goods are, in part, identical and otherwise related and/or complementary. This duPont factor entirely and unequivocally favors Opposer.

3rd duPont Factor. The Similarity or Dissimilarity Of Established, Likely-To-Continue Trade Channels

It is established rule that where goods are recited in an application or registration, without any restriction as to classes of purchasers or trade channels, it creates the following legal presumptions: (1) that the description encompasses all goods or types of goods embraced by the broad terminology; (2) that the goods move through all of the channels of trade suitable for goods of that type; and (3) that they reach all potential users or customers for such goods. See, Warnaco, supra, at 210 USPQ 314-315; and Guardian Products Co., Inc. v. Scott Paper Co., 200 USPQ 738, 741 (TTAB 1978). There are no limitations or restrictions recited in the application in issue. Accordingly, the Board must find, as a matter of law, that Applicant's goods which are identical, and nearly identical and/or highly related and complimentary to Opposer's goods must be presumed to be marketed in the same and/or similar channels of trade and to the same class of consumer. See also, Genesco Inc. v. Martz, 66 USPQ2d 1260, 1268 (TTAB 2003).

This duPont factor entirely and unequivocally favors Opposer.

4th duPont Factor. The Conditions Under Which And Buyers To Whom Sales Are Made (Impulse vs. Careful, Sophisticated Purchasing)

The application in issue is an "Intent to Use" application and there is no evidence of record of use of the mark by the Applicant. Further, there is no evidence of record as to the intended pricing of the goods recited in the application in issue. Many of the goods in said application, including the goods that are legally identical to those of Opposer, are not limited in any way as to class of consumer. In fact, the Class 25 goods are preceded by the phrase: "Men, women and children's clothing."

The Board must find that Applicant's goods and Opposer's goods are provided under any and all marketing conditions applicable to the recited goods, and under any price points applicable to such goods, and are provided to and purchased by all classes of consumers appropriate to the goods identified. Id.

This duPont factor entirely and unequivocally favors Opposer.

5th duPont Factor. The Fame Of Opposer's Marks
(Sales, Advertising, Length Of Use)

The fame of a mark "plays as dominant role in cases featuring a famous or strong mark."

See, Kenner Parker Toys Inc. v. Rose Arts Industries, Inc., 963 F.2d 350, 22 USPQ2d 1453, 1456 (Fed. Cir. 1992). Famous marks are accorded more protection because they are more likely to be remembered and associated in the public mind than a weaker mark. Id. "[A] strong mark . . . casts a long shadow which competitors must avoid." Id.

As discussed above in the "Factual Background" section of this brief (pp. 1-3), Opposer's NAUTICA Mark meets all the criteria for being a "famous" mark, both for purposes of likelihood of confusion analysis and dilution analysis --

- Continuous use on clothing since 1983 and continuous use on fragrances since 1987.
- Average annual wholesale U.S. sales over the past seven (7) years in excess of $900 million/per year /; and approximately $1.8 billion/per year at retail.
- #2 U.S. market-share in the menswear category for the past 4 years.
- Average annual advertising and promotional expenditures over the past eight (8) years in excess of $37 million/year.
- Its products are advertised through major sponsorship agreements, television advertising, billboards, store fliers, company mailers, catalogs, and the Internet, and print advertising in major publications with U.S. and/or world distribution. Print advertising generates over 1 billion annual impressions; Sponsorship promotion generates multiple billions of impressions.

- Opposer's products are sold through its own successful free-standing-stores, as well as store- within a-store NAUTICA sections at such famous department stores as Lord & Taylor, Macy's, Bloomingdale's, Linens 'n Things, and Bed, Bath & Beyond, and through the Internet.

This duPont factor [Fame] entirely and unequivocally favors Opposer.

7th duPont Factor. The Nature And Extent Of Any Actual Confusion; and 8th duPont Factor. The Length of Time During And Conditions Under Which There Has Been Concurrent Use Without Evidence Of Actual Confusion

The application in issue is an “Intent to Use” application and there is no evidence of record of use of the mark by the Applicant. Accordingly, for purposes of this proceeding, duPont factors 7 and 8 are not relevant.

10th duPont Factor. Market Interface Between The Parties

The Applicant’s application and any use by Applicant of its mark is without the consent or permission of Opposer. See Notice of Opposition, ¶14. There are no agreements or understandings between the parties to the contrary.

Accordingly, this duPont factor favors Opposer.

11th duPont Factor. The Extent To Which Opposer Has A Right To Exclude Others From Use Of Its Marks

The marks of the parties are similar in look, sound, meaning and commercial impression.

The parties' respective goods are, at least in part, identical.

Opposer is the owner of seventeen "incontestable" registrations of record, including Reg. No. 1464663 for NAUTICA in Class 25 registered since November 1987 and Reg. No. 1553539 for NAUTICA in Class 9 registered since August 1989. Opposer is entitled to all the presumptions that flow from such ownership, including the right to exclude others from use of the same or confusingly similar mark on the same or related goods. See 15 U.S.C. §§ 1057(b), 1115(a), and 1115(b). With regard to Opposer's incontestable registrations, its registrations are "conclusive" evidence of its rights.

Opposer is also entitled to the factual presumptions that the parties' channels of trade overlap, and that the ultimate consumers overlap. Opposer has shown that its NAUTICA Mark is famous. Finally, Opposer has consistently and continuously policed its mark. See, Decl. Friedman, ¶2. This duPont factor strongly favors Opposer.

12th duPont Factor. The Extent Of Potential Confusion Is Substantial

When one considers (1) The fact that the parties' marks are similar; (2) the identical and the related and complementary nature of the parties' respective goods; (3) the fame associated with Opposer's mark and name; (4) the fact that by law the channels of trade and ultimate consumers necessarily overlap; and (5) Opposer's numerous registrations of record, the Board can only conclude, based upon the evidence of record, that the Applicant's motion for summary judgment must fail.

As has often been stated, there is “no excuse for even approaching the well-known trademark of a competitor . . . and that all doubt as to whether confusion, mistake, or deception is likely is to be resolved against the newcomer, especially where the established mark is one which is famous.” Nina Ricci S.A.R.L. v. E.T.F. Enterprises Inc., 889 F.2d 1070, 12 USPQ2d 1091 (Fed. Cir. 1989), quoting Planter’s Nut & Chocolate Co. v. Crown Nut Co., Inc., 305 F.2d 916, 134 USPQ 504, 511 (CCPA 1962). See also, Century 21 Real Estate Corp. v. Century Life of America, 23 USPQ2d 1698, 1701 (CAFC 1992) (and cases cited therein).

ARGUMENT (RE: DILUTION)

As addressed above, Opposer’s mark is well-known and famous. For purposes of dilution, a mark is considered “famous” by reference to the factors set forth in 15 USC §1125(c)(2)(A) (Trademark Dilution Revision Act of 2006), namely:

“if it is recognized by the general consuming public of the United States as a designation of source of the goods or services of the mark’s owner” and considering certain relevant factors, including:

- (i) the duration, extent, and geographic reach of advertising and publicity of the mark, whether advertised or publicized by the owner or third parties.
- (ii) The amount, volume, and geographic extent of sales of goods or services offered under the mark.
- (iii) The extent of actual recognition of the mark.
- (iv) Whether the mark [is] registered . . . on the principal register.

Rather than reiterate the relevant facts, the Board is referred to the “Factual Background” section at pp. 1-3 above and the summary of evidence of fame at pp. 13-17 above, which are clear and convincing evidence of the fame of Opposer's NAUTICA Mark for purposes of a dilution claim under 15 USC §1125(c)(2)(A). The Applicant does not appear to argue otherwise.

"Dilution by blurring" is defined in 15 USC §1125(c)(2)(B) (Trademark Dilution Revision Act of 2006) by reference to various relevant factors, including the following:

- (i) The degree of similarity between the mark or tradename and the famous mark.
- (ii) The degree of inherent or acquired distinctiveness of the famous mark.
- (iii) The extent to which the owner of the famous mark is engaging in substantially exclusive use of the mark.
- (iv) The degree of recognition of the famous mark.
- (v) Whether the user of the mark or trade name intended to create an association with the famous mark.
- (vi) Any actual association between the mark or trade name and the famous mark.

Regarding the above factors, the marks are similar, the NAUTICA Mark has acquired extraordinary secondary meaning as demonstrated above, Opposer has long and aggressively policed its mark [See, Decl. Friedman ¶2]; the NAUTICA Mark is recognized by consumers throughout the United States, and indeed the world as one of the top/premier clothing and fragrance brands; because of the fame of Opposer's mark, Applicant has "no excuse for even approaching the well-known trademark of "Nautica. Nina Ricci S.A.R.L., supra, 12 USPQ2d 1091 (Fed. Cir. 1989).

Opposer has submitted clear and convincing evidence concerning the above "fame" and "blurring dilution" factors. Accordingly, the Board should find that Applicant has failed to meet its burden on its motion for summary judgment.

CONCLUSION

For any or all of the foregoing reasons Applicant's motion for summary judgment should be denied in its entirety. Based upon the foregoing and the accompanying declarations, Nautica moves for a grant of summary judgment in its favor, refusing registration to the Applicant.

In summary, and quoting the Board in its decision on Opp. No. 91165909 (unreported) at pp.34-35:

The dominant factor in this case is the fame of opposer's NAUTICA marks. Because opposer has established that its NAUTICA marks are entitled to a high degree of public recognition and renown, they are more likely to be remembered and associated in consumers' minds than weaker marks and accorded more protection. In addition, to the high degree of public recognition and renown, applicant's mark is proposed for use in connection with goods which are identical in part to the goods in opposer's registrations. Therefore it is more likely that consumers will be confused when purchasing applicant's products when applicants' products are identified by a mark that is similar to opposer's famous marks. Recot Inc. v. M.C. Bacton, 214 F.3d 1322, 54 USPQ2d 1894, 1897 (Fed. Cir. 2000). In reaching this decision, we note that there is "no excuse for even approaching the well-known trademark of a competitor . . . and that all doubt as to whether confusion, mistake, or deception is likely is to be resolved against the newcomer, especially where the established mark is one which is famous." Nina Ricci S.A.R.L. v. E.T.F. Enterprises Inc., 889 F.2d 1070, 12 USPQ2d 1091, 1094 (Fed. Cir. 1989), quoting Planter's Nut & Chocolate Co. v. Crown Nut Co. Inc., 305 F.2d 916, 134 USPQ 504, 511 (CCPA 1962).

DECLARATION OF MARGARET BIZZARI

MARGARET BIZZARI declares as follows under penalty of perjury pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746:

1. I am the Trademark Manager in the Legal Department of VF Sportswear, Inc.¹, the parent corporation to Opposer, Nautica Apparel, Inc. ("Nautica"). I submit this declaration in support of Opposer's Brief in Opposition to Applicant's Motion for Summary Judgment based upon my personal knowledge and the corporate records of Nautica. I am authorized to make this declaration.

2. Within my position, which I have held since 2001, I am responsible for the management of Nautica's trademark portfolio and generally maintain records associated with the licensing of Nautica's marks including product development, advertising, marketing, sponsorship, and sales activities. As such, I am knowledgeable on issues relating to Nautica's use and registration of its trademarks for the mark NAUTICA and variations thereof around the world.

3. Prior to my present position, I have been responsible for the trademark portfolios of other companies such as Revlon, Estee Lauder and Halston Borghese. As a result of both my present position and past experience, I have knowledge regarding lifestyle brands and the industry.

4. The Nautica brand and use of the NAUTICA trademark first began in 1983 in connection with outerwear (i.e. coats) and in 1987 for fragrance products. Over the course of many years, the NAUTICA brand has developed and evolved into a “lifestyle” brand. A lifestyle brand is a brand with a strong core identity that can extend to most, if not all types of products, provided those products are not inconsistent with the core image. Consequently, lifestyle brands tend to extend across a very broad range of consumer products used by people in their day-to-day lives and typically include apparel, eyewear and accessories as well as home products and furnishings. For example, Nautica’s product range includes clothing, fragrance products, eyewear, watches, jewelry, luggage, furniture, bedding, umbrellas, purses, fabrics, boats and flotation devices. Indeed, at one point there was a Nautica minivan. Examples of other lifestyle brands include Calvin Klein, Disney, Giorgio Armani, Ralph Lauren, and Tommy Hilfiger.

5. Attached as Exhibit A are certified status copies of Nautica’s trademark registrations from the United States Patent and Trademark Office and a summary of such marks and the various international classes within which Nautica has a presence. It should be noted that Nautica owns over 1,800 trademark applications and registrations throughout the world.

6. In relation to the present Opposition, Nautica is the owner of the following relevant trademark applications and registrations in International Class 25:

7. Nautica's first use dates, as reflected in its registrations, the summaries above and its corporate business records, are accurate and use has been continuous until the present day.

8. As evidenced by Nautica's trademark registrations, Nautica has used and continues to use the NAUTICA mark, NAUTICA combination marks and marks that include an NAUT prefix such as NAUTEX² and NAUTICARE³.

9. Nautica's products are offered for sale and sold throughout the entire United States in department stores, specialty stores, Nautica's own stores which operate under the NAUTICA mark (of which there are 115) and the NAUTICAKIDS mark (of which there are 6) and over the internet via its own websites, its licensees' websites, amazon.com and authorized customer and portal websites. Examples of stores where Nautica products are offered for sale and sold are Macy's, Dillard's, Bloomingdale's, Bon Ton/Carson, Belk, Boscov's, Gottschalk's, Lord & Taylor, Linens 'n Things, Bed, Bath & Beyond and Fortunoff. In total, Nautica products are promoted and offered for sale in over 2,449 stores (not owned by Nautica) in the United States. In many department stores, Nautica's products are showcased within a designated area, or a "store within a store". This "store within a store" theme would include Nautica's signage, images and trademarks. Because Nautica is a lifestyle brand with a full range product line, there frequently are numerous departments or "store within a store" displays within one store. For instance, there would be a Nautica men's area in the suit department, a Nautica area in the men's sportswear department, a Nautica women's sportswear department, a Nautica loungewear department, a Nautica fragrance section, a Nautica bedding area, etc. Attached as Exhibit B are

12. Attached as Exhibit E are copies of representative pages from various catalogs for Nautica's furniture and eyewear lines as well as printed pages from Nautica's website.

13. Nautica's products and its marks are promoted through advertising in magazines, newspapers, television, on billboards, fliers, company mailers, on the radio and over the internet. 2003	$37,685,943
2002	$35,111,056
2001	$35,537,565
2000	$40,568,881

16. Nautica's sales figures in the United States, at wholesale, are as follows:

Year	U.S. Sales
2007	$924,621,000
2006	$929,648,000
2005	$862,738,000
2004	$877,320,000
2003	$925,058,000
2002	$920,570,000
2001	$886,574,000

Since the retail price of most Nautica products are double the wholesale price, Nautica's actual annual sales at retail are typically in the $2 Billion Dollar range.

17. From 2004 through 2007, in the United States, in the men's sportswear category in department store channels of trade, Nautica has consistently ranked number two (2) based upon total sales volume according to NPD Market Research. Interestingly enough, Nautica Jeans Company, which is ranked separately from Nautica, has consistently held its rank at nineteen (19).⁵

⁵ According to NPD Market Research, the top four positions have been held by Polo Ralph Lauren (with approximately 10.2% market share), Nautica (approximately 3.9% market share), Levis (approximately 3.3% market share), and Izod (2.8% market share). Nautica Jeans Co. has held an additional 1.3% market share rating in the 19th position over the last four years.

I DECLARE UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY THAT THE FOREGOING IS TRUE AND CORRECT.
